

CryoEco: The Paper Refrigeration Solution

CryoEco is a recyclable thermal insulation solution for shipping perishable products. Composed of recycled, shredded and compressed papers, it has thermal insulation properties for shipping temperature sensitive products.

Many players in the food sector, and more particularly in e-commerce, have adopted this concept, making it possible to secure the temperature of the most stringent products, especially during the summer period when other packaging options show their limits.

Gel packs can be purchased as a complement to comprise a complete solution. The standard gel is 500g.
